Pace International Law Review
The Pace International Law Review serves as an authoritative source for cutting-edge legal topics from around the world. Our publications and blog serve to update legal professionals about current international events, issues, and concerns. You can find our publications and blog at http://digitalcommons.pace.edu/pilr/ and http://pilr.blogs.law.pace.edu.

Dyson Distinguished Lecture
The Dyson Distinguished Lecture was endowed in 1982 by a gift from the Dyson Foundation made possible through the generosity of the late Charles H. Dyson, a 1930 graduate, trustee, and long-time benefactor of Pace University. The principal aim of the Dyson Distinguished Lecture is to encourage and facilitate the highest quality scholarly legal contributions in furtherance of Pace Law School's educational mission.

Thank You
Thank you to all of our participants who have traveled from near and far for this cutting-edge conversation. We are honored to host you and we appreciate your contributions to today's Symposium. We are grateful to Dean Michelle S. Simon for her support. Thanks also to Associate Dean Andrew Lund and former Associate Dean Bridget Crawford for their constant interest and assistance.

At Pace Law School, students acquire the knowledge, skills and experience to make an immediate and positive impact on their chosen fields of practice. On its White Plains, NY, campus, it offers JD programs, as well as the Master of Laws degree in Environmental Law (including the nation’s first graduate level programs in Climate Change and Land Use and Sustainable Development), and Comparative Legal Studies. An integral part of Pace University, a comprehensive, independent, and diversified university with campuses in New York City and Westchester County, Pace Law School has over 7,000 alumni throughout the country and the world. www.law.pace.edu
Program

Norway’s leadership in adopting quotas for women’s representation on corporate boards has been an inspiration to several other countries. This move represents a major shift in corporate governance norms and in efforts to attain sex equality in the workplace. Multiple disciplines, national frames and perspectives will foster a deeper understanding of these measures. This Symposium brings together thinkers from a variety of disciplines and perspectives to analyze and comprehend the meaning and impact, both deliberate and unintended, of such quotas. We hope to foster broader collective and individual knowledge production on the phenomenon of corporate board quotas.

9:00 am-9:30 am
Welcome to Pace
Michelle S. Simon, Dean, Pace Law School

Framing Comparative Sex Regimes and Corporate Governance
Darren Rosenblum, Professor, Pace Law School

9:30 am-10:50 am
Panel One: Corporate Governance Shifts
Will corporate governance change once quotas feminize a critical mass of boards? How do different inequality remedies relate to each other?
Amy Dittmar, Michael R. and Mary Kay Hallman Fellow, Associate Professor of Finance, Stephen M. Ross School of Business, University of Michigan
Aaron Dhir, Associate Professor, Osgoode Hall Law School, York University
Kim Krawiec, Katherine Everett Professor Law, Duke Law School
Martin Gelter, Associate Professor, Fordham University School of Law
Andrew Lund (Moderator), Associate Dean, Pace Law School
David Chekroun (Commentator), Global Research Fellow, NYU Law School; Professor, ESCP Europe

10:50 am-11:20 pm Coffee Break

11:20 am-12:30 pm
Panel Two: Democratic Purpose
Are quotas designed to achieve good governance, women’s empowerment, or gender balance?
Anne Alstott, Jacquin D. Bierman Professor in Taxation, Yale Law School
Julie Suk, Visiting Professor, Harvard Law School
Cheryl Wade, Dean Harold F. McNiece Professor, St. John’s Law School
Ann Bartow (Moderator), Professor, Pace Law School
Bridget Crawford (Commentator), Professor, Pace Law School

12:30 pm-1:30 pm Lunch

1:30 pm-3:15 pm
Dyson Distinguished Lecture and Reception
Sex Regimes and Corporate Governance: a Transatlantic Conversation
Horatia Muir Watt, Professor, Sciences Po, École de Droit
Darren Rosenblum (Commentator, Moderator), Professor, Pace Law School

3:15 pm-4:45 pm
Panel Three: Unintended Consequences
What are the intended and unintended consequences of quotas?
Dan Danielsen, Professor of Law, Northeastern University School of Law
Fernanda Nicola, Associate Professor, Washington College of Law, American University
Tom Tyler, Macklin Fleming Professor of Law and Professor of Psychology, Yale Law School
Mary Anne Case (Commentator), Arnold I. Shure Professor of Law, University of Chicago Law School and Samuel Rubin Visiting Professor, Columbia Law School

4:45 pm-5:00 pm
Concluding Remarks
Darren Rosenblum, Professor, Pace Law School